

Accordingly, I propose the following for the Medieval Studies Program's Assessment Plan.

"The Medieval Studies Program does not have any faculty nor does it offer any courses. All courses that count toward the Medieval Studies major and minor are offered by other departments and programs on campus. Assessment for these courses is already governed by the Assessment Plans of the host department. Accordingly, the Medieval Studies will defer to the Assessment Plan of the individual department that is offering a given course."

All the best,

Stephen
